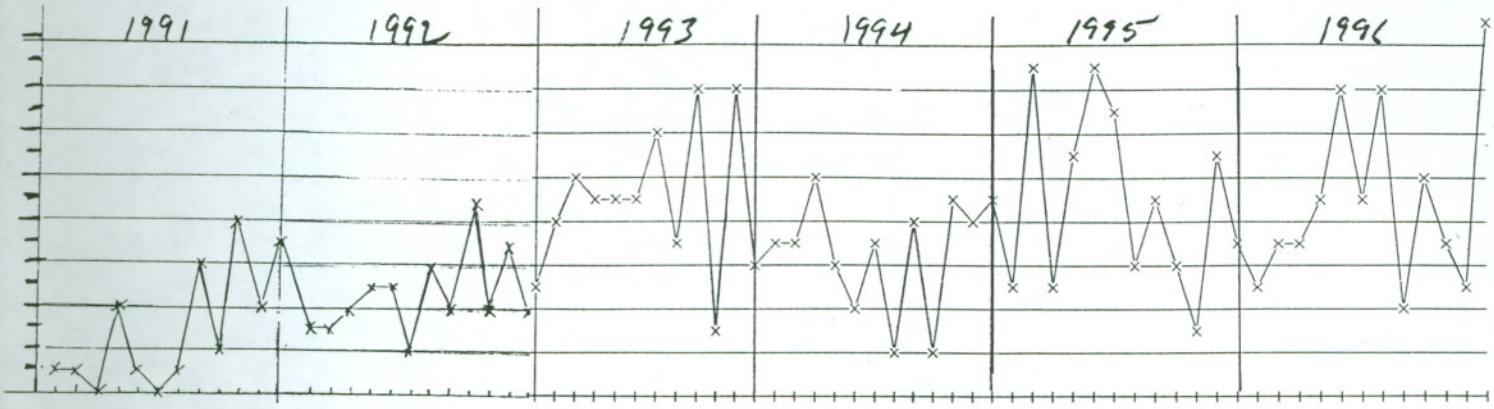
ANALYTICAL CUMULATIVE EXAMINATION

8th February 1997



The above data were recently obtained in an experiment in the Chemistry Department. They are discrete counts per month for six years.

Write a summary of the data, discussing and justifying, as quantitatively as possible any trends you suggest might be present.

Give estimates for the degree of confidence you have in any of your conclusions.

Identify any further information you might need in determining the presence or absence of trends.